Although there are now forty-eight states in the union, there are only forty-six stars on a correct American flag. The additional stars for the two new states will not take their place in the corner of "Old Glory" until July 4. This has been a rule for many years in regard to the time for adding stars for new states.

Mrs. James Canfield, of the Borough, answers in the affirmative when asked the question, "Do hens pay?" Just to show what 23 biddies can do she reports that for the month of February they laid 372 eggs, which at 30 cents per dozen amounted to $9.30; poultry sold and used, $4.05, a total of $13.35. Feed and other supplies purchased $2.30, leaving $11.05 clear of all expenses.

A counterfeit dollar bill, so cleverly made that it deceives bank cashiers, has been discovered in New York. Already 150 have been gathered in by secret service men to that city. The check number of all the bills so far has been A, and the plate number 4,810. The work has been so well done that only with a microscope can the difference between the real and the counterfeit be detected.

—Wm. C. Arthur of Warren, one of the old-time rivermen and pilots on the Allegheny, died at his home Saturday morning, in his 83d year. In the days of lumber rafting he was a familiar figure, known from Olean to Louisville, and he was considered one of the safest pilots on the two great rivers. His wife died about two years ago.

—A Mr. Foss, of Chicago, arrived in town last evening direct from Lawrenceville, Ill., where the oil properties and refinery of Frank McNeal and his partners are located, and states that the well recently drilled in by that company is making a steady flow of one hundred barrels an hour of a high grade of oil for that territory.—Sheffield Observer.

—Benjamin Mealy, a lifelong resident of Tionesta township, who sold his farm about two years ago and moved to Wolf's Corners, has again disposed of his place, and will move shortly to near Strattonville, Clarion county, where he has purchased a farm. Mr. Mealy will dispose of most of his farming implements and household goods at public sale on Saturday afternoon, March 23, at one o'clock, as announced by posters printed at this office.

—Col. A. A. Clearwater, one of Elk county's most prominent and best beloved citizens, died suddenly at his home at Wilcox on Saturday morning. Col. Clearwater will be remembered by many of our citizens as having at one time been a candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket in this district when it was overwhelmingly Democratic and having lost by only a small margin, his personal popularity having almost won against great odds.

—Superintendent of Schools Carson is in receipt of a communication from Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, State Supt. of Public Instruction, calling his attention to a misprint in the "form for collector's warrant" printed on page 174 of the bound copies of the school code. On the fifth line from the top the "first day of July" should read "first day of June." School boards throughout the county should note this correction and govern themselves accordingly when issuing duplicates to collectors.

The following subscription renewals for the past week are thankfully acknowledged, (in your name writing there): C. W. Hottel (new), S. W. Fitzgerald, Bottelville; D. A. Everhart, Lickingville; J. J. Kellogg, Cooksburg; Mrs. E. W. Fitzgerald, Kane; Wm. Cunningham, Pigeon; (new); A. L. Cooper, Valencia, Pa.; Miss Nettie Hunter, Chas. Hunter, Tionesta; Fred Rudolph, Whig Hill; Harry Rudolph, Newtown Mills; Peter Hanes, Stockton, N. Y.; Mrs. Maude Harbut, Newmansville.

According to the Meadville Tribune C. W. Haydick, of that city, business manager of the Edwin E. Clapp estate, has sold to Messrs. Brown, Fasset and Squier, of Philadelphia and Tunkhannock, Pa., and Jamestown, N. Y., the noted Clapp estate in President township, Venango county, and Tionesta township, Forest county. It is the intention of the new owners, who paid $90,000 for the property, to operate it for oil and gas. The Billiken Oil and Gas Co. has been incorporated by them.

We are in receipt of a marked copy of the Pittsburg Index, showing an illustrated article on the beauty and utility of dams, which some friend has evidently been inspired to send us in view of our opposition to the plan of damming Tionesta creek and Clarion rivers as proposed in articles of incorporation now being asked at Harrisburg. The dams shown in these pictures are beautiful. In fact they are a good deal more beautiful than the pictures published immediately after the desolation of Austin, showing the effect of one of these beautiful dams letting go, and the articles accompanying them are far less harrowing reading than the lists of dead and wounded at Austin. But we are still against the damming proposition, beauty to the contrary notwithstanding.—Brookville Republican.

Monday forenoon Judge W. D. Hincley granted the motion of John M. Andrews for a change of venue, and Erie county was agreed upon as the place for Andrews' second trial for the murder of Emilie Mann. Erie county was selected owing to its size and its accessibility from Warren. When court convened that morning District Attorney Lyons submitted an affidavit in which he denied generally all of the accusations of the defense relative to Andrews not being able to get a fair trial in Warren county. Judge Hincley a moment or so after hearing the petition said that in view of all the circumstances he would grant a change of venue. He mentioned the following counties as feasible ones for the trial of the case: Jefferson, McKean, Venango, Clearfield and Erie. At the Court's suggestion, counsel for Andrews consulted him in his cell relative to where he desired the case to go. He replied that he had no wish in the matter beyond the fact that he desired that the county have a large population, where there would be less likelihood of prejudice. Andrews declined to make a choice of the five counties named. When this was reported to Judge Hincley he said Erie county would be chosen, being the largest of the five mentioned.

Still On the Job.

Vol. XXXIX, No. 1.—That's what it reads on page one of The News this week. That's a bunch of years to look back over—the births, marriages, deaths, joys and sorrows; successes and failures; what history those 38 years contain. And sitting at the 38-year-old desk the editor looks down the long line and sighs. But he swings around and looking ahead lights a fresh cigar and wonders if he will live long enough to see the end of the winter of 1912. And just then the sun came out, as if in answer to the thought. So, we're still on the job.—Tidoute News.

All of which has a cheery sound and we can felicitate, as well as commiserate, with Br'er White in his trials and triumphs of the past. But, psaw! The News is only a kid 'longside the REPUBLICAN, which entered upon its forty-fifth year just last week, and while the present helmsman has not always occupied that station, he's "held cases" on the "old rag" well nigh steady right down to the present writing, and doesn't seem to "feel the worse for the wear" either. However, we're just as well satisfied that this summer's coming again, and that we've almost weathered through another old fashioned winter.

PERSONAL.

—Charles Imel is home from State College for a short visit.

—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Farmer and children, of Tidoute, are visiting relatives in town.

—Misses Marie and Helen Smearbaugh are spending the week in Pittsburgh and Washington, Pa.

—Miss Hazel Fones started Tuesday night for Youngstown, Ohio, to consult Bonesseter Reese in regard to her left foot which she injured six weeks ago, while coasting. Her sister, Mrs. George McNamara, of Oil City, will accompany her.

—J. G. Bromley was over from Meadville a few days last week looking after business and shaking hands with old friends. Mr. Bromley advertises his property here for sale in this week's REPUBLICAN, and if any one is banking after a desirable home we'd advise him to look this bargain up.

—The REPUBLICAN spent a pleasant hour with Wm. Cunningham, one of Jenks township's oldest citizens and most intelligent farmers, Thursday afternoon, he having finished several days of jury duty. Mr. C. is a pioneer of that section, having spent more than fifty years in the vicinity of his present comfortable home, and being a good conversationalist, he finds a cordial welcome wherever he goes.

—Messrs. A. W. and Bert Cook, of Cooksburg, and Gil C. Reitz and the editor of the Republican, of this place, were among the guests at the Acorn Club banquet in DuBois on Thursday evening of last week, on which occasion Hon. J. Horace McFarland, of Harrisburg, delivered his illustrated address, "S-C-Pennsylvania First." A number of fine views of the Cook property at Cooksburg, are included in the illustrations used by Mr. McFarland to illustrate his address.—Brookville Republican.

John F. Brown Dies in Philadelphia.

Attorney A. C. Brown received a telegram from Philadelphia yesterday morning stating that John F. Brown, of Clarion, well known throughout Western Pennsylvania, had died at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in that city at one o'clock that morning. The family was greatly shocked by the news. Mrs. A. C. Brown being a sister of the deceased, and the announcement was alike startling to other acquaintances here, where Mr. Brown has many warm friends. The message contained few particulars stating Mr. Brown went to bed feeling well as usual and died at the hour stated, doubtless from heart disease. About three weeks ago the deceased left on a trip south, visiting Panama, and later, being joined by his wife and younger daughter, he visited Cuba.

Mr. Brown was aged about 62 years and, besides his wife, is survived by one son and two daughters. Practically his whole life had been spent in Clarion, and perhaps no man in the county had more to do with the uplift and material welfare of the community of which he had for nearly forty years been a prominent and highly esteemed member, one whose taking away will be more genuinely regretted, no doubt, than any other of its citizens.

Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Walters were visitors in Tionesta one day last week.

Miss Irene Phillips and gentleman friend of Kellettville spent Sunday afternoon with Marie McKeen.

Mrs. George Young visited Mrs. Flick at Tionesta last week.

The Green township school board met Saturday and appointed the following committee to hold an examination for pupils wishing to enter high school next fall: Prof. J. B. Beck, Misses Beta Cole and Grace Reed.

Ted Wilson and Mr. Duukle of Kellettville attended Epworth League here Sunday evening.

K. L. Haugh has returned from a visit with relatives in Brookville and Clarion.

Mr. and Mrs. George Young entertained a number of young folks at their home Saturday evening. All present report a delightful time.

Mrs. Pomeroy is quite ill at the home of Fred Klinefelter.

E. R. Fitzgerald and daughter Evelyn were in Kane a couple of days last week. Jerry Re-dy is home from Fagundes, where he has been employed this winter.

Mrs. Lyman Cook and daughter Augusta arrived home from Florida last Saturday.

Roy Thompson was over from Endeavor on a visit last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Nichols spent Sunday with relatives in Clarion county.

Miss Rachel Hunter has gone to Pittsburg, where she will be employed in a wholesale millinery establishment.

J. A. Gleencamp, a wealthy club man of Pittsburg, appeared before Alderman R. A. Kerr, of Titusville at 10 o'clock Friday morning and pleaded guilty to buying 75 pheasants in that city and vicinity during last November and December. He was fined $1,875, which, with the costs, amounted to $1,892.95. Mr. Gleencamp drew his check for the amount and returned to Pittsburg the same day. It is evident the citizens of that locality mean to enforce the game laws and that pot hunters had better take notice.

Court Minutes.

When the REPUBLICAN's report of the court's doings closed last week the case of Wm. Brooks vs. Daniels, Cropp & Co. was on trial. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $166.74. The claim was for labor, ties, poles, etc.

The case against Charles O. Thomas, known as the horse stealing case, went over to May sessions. Thomas has been out on bail for several months, and his name being called he failed to appear, thus forfeiting his bail bond.

The damage suit of Ada M. Graham and Edward Graham, her husband, against the borough of Tionesta was contested to the last, and was given to the jury Saturday after the noon hour. The plaintiffs claimed damages to the extent of $3,000 for injuries which Mrs. Graham had sustained in a fall on a defective sidewalk on May street in April, 1911. The jury, after a two-hour deliberation, gave a verdict for the plaintiffs as follows: Mrs. Graham $164.80; Mr. Graham $200. The verdict was evidently a compromise.

Three Bad Fires.

The two-story dwelling house of Fred Rudolph, situated near the junction of the Newtown and Whig Hill public roads on Ross run, Kingsley township, was totally destroyed by a fire which broke out about ten o'clock Sunday morning, and most of the contents went with the building. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been a spark from the stove-pipe, which ignited the building in the attic and roof, and when first discovered getting cold bedones to check the flames. The fire burned so fiercely that within fifteen minutes the whole house was a mass of flames. Mr. Rudolph and his neighbor, Theodore Lehman, managed to save the organ, two children, two rockers and a couch, but everything else went up in smoke. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph saved only the clothing which they were wearing at the time of the fire. Included in the losses were $10 in money, two gold watches and three chains, three guns, two revolvers, and all of Mr. Rudolph's tools which he used in his work as a woods jobber for Wheeler & Dusenbury. His loss on the house and contents will reach $1,000.00, which is total, as there was no insurance. The house was without chimneys and no insurance could be had. Mr. Rudolph had his face blistered while trying to save the pictures of his father and mother. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph have the sympathy of their friends in their loss. They have no time in getting a new start, as Mr. Rudolph was in Tionesta Monday laying in a stock of new furniture, and they went to housekeeping Tuesday morning in a vacant house which stands near the burned home.

The home of Harry Giffert, at Lickingville, Pa., was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon last about four o'clock. The flames originated in the attic of the dwelling and had gained such a start that only a part of the household goods in the upper part of the house could be saved. Everything on the first floor was carried out and to places of safety. The loss is $1,800, on which there was an insurance of $800. This family has been pursued by ill fortune of late. As was chronicled in the REPUBLICAN two weeks ago, a son was stricken down with pneumonia and died. Another son was ill with pneumonia when the fire broke out, but was able to get out of the burning building and walk to a neighbor's house.

The home of John Christie, near Pilehook, was destroyed by fire Thursday morning about eight o'clock. So rapidly did the flames do their work that the family was able to save but a piano and lounge of all the household goods. Mr. Christie and two daughters, Effie and Sadie, were alone at home and were eating breakfast when they heard a strange sound upstairs. Miss Effie opened the stairway door and was met by a burst of flame which burned her hair and badly scorched her face and hands. The three frightened women managed to save the piano, lounge and some pictures and then the bad drove them out. The house was a substantial two-story dwelling and the loss is a heavy one to the family, as their winter provisions were all consumed with the other contents. There was $500 insurance, but not nearly enough to cover the loss.

Boy Scouts of America.
So much reference is made to this movement in both secular and religious papers it may be well to outline its work somewhat, so that parents and others may have a more clear idea of its work and encourage the boys to become affiliated with it. Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell conceived the idea of the Boy Scouts, believing it would furnish a natural and helpful outlet for a boy's energy during that formative period of his life known as the "teen period." Before the boy can become a Scout he is required to take an obligation.

First, To do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout law.
Second, To help other people at all times.
Third, To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

It emphasizes then character, good citizenship and helpfulness as the cardinal principles. The Scout law emphasizes trustworthiness, loyalty, helpfulness, friendliness, courtesy, kindness, obedience, cheerfulness, thrift, bravery and reverence. Scoutcraft, woodcraft and campcraft supply wholesome amusement and recreation and brings the boy near to nature. Everything about the movement is uplifting and we are glad to know three troops have been organized in this county. The first one to be organized was at Endeavor with Mr. Chas. Gorman as Scout Master. The Endeavor Scouts are devoting their spare time to boat building, tent making, and have plans made for a summer camp. Soon after the organization of the Endeavor troop a troop was organized in Tionesta with Dr. J. C. Dunn as Scout Master. Our town Scouts have successfully passed their examinations so far as present requirements are concerned and expect to be in the Scout's full uniform in the near future. The last troop to be organized is in Nebraska, but in point of members leads the others mentioned. Mr. S. H. Secor, the Scout Master, is not behind the others in his interest. So easy to you, boy, and may the number of Boy Scouts increase.

—Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of coughs, colds and croup. It can be depended upon. Try it. Sold by all dealers.

Kellettville.

W. L. Watson purchased the school house at Four Mile and is moving it to town, where he expects to build a large summer kitchen for his family from the lumber.

Mrs. Geo. Klinefelter and Mrs. M. F. Cullin were business visitors in Warren Friday.

The political convention held in Johnson's hall, Friday evening, by members of the high school, was greatly enjoyed by all present and netted them a neat sum toward the fund they are raising to pay for the typewriter used by the school. After a hilarious session it was found that Teddy Roosevelt was the man for President and P. A. Frost, one of the teachers in the public school, was their selection for Vice President.

Ten of the young people of town drove to Endeavor Saturday evening, where they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John Jones.

Two of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Matha's children were taken down with scarlet fever the first of the week. They had kept their children in since the first case was reported and they had not mingled with the children for about two months and could not have been exposed to the disease in any way, which proves that there is not much use of trying to avoid these things.

Ray Weller was a business visitor in Tionesta Friday.

Mildred Weller was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Watson, during the week. Wm. Maxwell had the misfortune to lose a valuable milch cow during the week.

Frank Nash spent the week with his mother at Pigeon.

Mrs. W. J. Datar and son Dewey drove to Fryburg Saturday and spent Sunday with relatives there.

Ray Weller, Prof. Kistner and the Misses Pearl Datar and Margaret Lorom attended church in Lickingville, Saturday evening.

The temperance talk by Mr. Washburn of Erie, which was given in the M. E. church, Sunday morning, was good and to the point. A subscription of $104.50 was taken for the benefit of the Anti-Saloon League.

Rev. W. E. Frampton was a Titusville visitor during the week.

W. S. Hendricks, Leon Watson and C. A. Jenkins were doing jury duty in Tionesta during the week.

Mrs. E. Wilson has returned from her trip to Buffalo and is getting ready to display the fine line of millinery goods purchased while there.

Joseph Byler of Tylersburg visited his son, James Byler, during the week, and called on old friends at the mill.

The quarantine was lifted from the home of W. E. Carbaugh during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine baby boy at their home Saturday.

Harold Fitzgerald has returned from Warren, where he was attending business college.

A He—n of a Story.

The following from the Oil City Derrick of a recent date explains itself, at least to the satisfaction of the people of this neck of woods:

J. W. McCrea, of Reno, is one of the many residents of this immediate vicinity who were undisturbed by the recent high price of eggs on account of having a good flock of hens. Mr. McCrea writes: "I notice several records of egg production in recent issues of the Derrick. While I don't claim any record results, I will give my experience to show what can be done in limited quarters. Commencing January 1, 1911, I kept a record of the eggs produced by 25 Barred Plymouth Rock pullets, and during the 12 months they laid 4,013 eggs—334 dozen and five, an average of 182 eggs per hen. These chickens were kept confined in an open front pen, 12x8 feet, with a yard 21x8 feet. This year I have 25 pullets which during February laid 420 eggs, an even 35 dozen."

Josh Billings once remarked, "Somebody stole our old blue hen; I wish they'd let her be, for every day she'd lay two eggs, and Sunday she'd lay three. Now, that sounds all right for poetry, but I'll bet seventy-five thousand dollars it never happened." And we agree with Josh. We don't discredit Mac's story in the least, but it's dollars to buttons that, on investigation, it would be found that he has some friendly neighbor whose chickens are permitted to run at large, and that he has so arranged his hen house that the doors swing inward—never outward.

A Lot of You Men Are Twenty Years Behind the Times in Clothes Buying.

You don't know what's going on. You're out of date. If you did all your business as you buy clothes, you wouldn't last a year. Many men will not buy ready-made clothes; they think good fit, good fabric, good tailoring are not to be had, ready-made. You may feel that way yourself. If you can afford to pay the good tailor anywhere from $35.00 to $50.00 for a Suit or Overcoat, do it. That's a form of luxury you may feel entitled to. But if you pay less than these prices to the ordinary tailor, you'll be money and satisfaction ahead to wear

Adler-Rochester Ready-to-Wear Clothes,

All-wool tailored in their own shops (which are not only the model tailor shops of Rochester, N. Y., but of the United States) perfect in style; better in every respect than you'll get from any but the good tailor. And in addition we will do something the ordinary tailor never thinks of doing—buy these clothes on our say, and if they are not fully satisfactory in all ways return them, and we'll refund your money. $18.00, $20.00, $22.50, $25.00 and $30.00.
